

Arthur Hageman To Be Main Speaker

Annual Membership Meeting Of The Chamber Set For Next Wednesday

Arthur Hageman, editor and publisher of the magazine "Inside Michigan" and owner of the new Lake Valley Resort, located west of Grayling off M-72, will be the main speaker at the annual membership meeting of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce set for next Wednesday, October 24.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the lunch room of the new gymnasium at Grayling High School. Chamber President Erie Post, in announcing the meeting, urged all members of the Chamber and others interested to make every effort to be present.

The members will be given a financial report on what monies have been taken in by the Chamber and where and what have been expended. Also Secretary Manager Robert Hayes will give a progress report on what work has been accomplished and what further work is planned for the future.

Also to be included at the session will be a series of very short round table sessions at which it is hoped that a program of future work devised and planned by the members themselves can be laid out for the board of directors to follow.

Refreshments of coffee and doughnut will be served following the meeting.

First All-Woman Bear Hunt Highly Successful As One Bruin Is Bagged

Warm, Dry Weather Holds Hunt Down

The first all-woman bear hunt ran a little overtime as it was necessary to bring a wounded bear to bay in a swamp and go in and get him.

Northern Michigan's first, all-woman bear hunt ran about two hours over its week-end limit to wind up with a real cliff-hanging finish.

The ladies got a bear!

The successful end to the 48-hour hunt was made possible by a light drizzle. Sunday afternoon in the day, the heat and dry winds caused the women to wear out the 70-odd huntresses and the dogs and most had given up the chase as lost.

When the rain started, 12 of the women and Fred Bromwell, a Manistee River guide, went back into the woods with the hounds. The pack picked up a trail within a short time and spotted the animal and wounded him with one shot from a .30-caliber rifle. About ten shots were fired so it was impossible to tell who actually wounded the animal.

The bear remained out of sight and the wounded animal was brought to bay in a swamp four miles south of M-72 and 12 miles west of Grayling.

Bromwell and Joe Neumann went in and killed the animal. The party of bear-hunting ladies had dwindled from 12 to just two by this time, Mrs. Neumann and Mrs. Mable Dingman, the Crawford County grandmother who promoted the all-woman hunt. Neumann dispatched the bear with one shot in the head, although the bear was just about dead.

The bear was estimated to weigh in at approximately 300 pounds.

High temperatures in the 80's and a torrid wind out of the south were credited by veteran guides and dog handlers with almost spoiling the hunt.

Sunday's hunt before the lucky shot, was a repetition of Saturday's fruitless attempt. The dog pack jumped bear, but the big beast ran to the high ridges near Cranberry and Johnson lakes where their scent was lost on the dry, fern covered ridges.

As Ham Sheveline, Bellaire and Harold Lakes, Kalkaska, led their dog packs to an area known as the "Old Orchard," south and west of Grayling, in the early hours Sunday morning, the dog pack set out in full chase of a family of bears that had been raiding the apple trees during the night.

But the bears slipped through the cordon of lady hunters stationed along the ridges and fled into the depths of swampland bordering Black Creek. After evading another group of hunters stationed in that area, the bears hustled out of earshot along the Manistee River swamplands and handlers spent hours in picking up the dogs.

Another bear jumped by a second pack in O'Leary swamp, fled to the high ridges and escaped.

Conservation Officers Leo Martin, Gaylord, and Charles Hickling, of Kalkaska, patrolled the roads in the area and maintained radio communication with each other to assist the dog handlers.

The case originally came before the court on a petition by Tom Eisenhower who lives in the vicinity of the dump. In a hearing last July on a petition to enjoin the operation of the city dump, Judge Shaffer continued the case to give the City an opportunity to obtain another site or improve the conditions.

City Manager Russell Carlson at last week's hearing told the Court of the plans of the City to correct conditions. Judge Shaffer said that he felt the City had not made enough effort in the case.

The Judge, however, continued the case until next summer to give the City further time. Mr. Eisenhower was represented by Harry T. Cook, attorney of Beloit, City Attorney Charles E. Moore represented the City.

G. O. C. News

The G. O. C. held their card party Monday night at the Legion Hall. A business meeting opened the evening with Sgt. States making the presentation of wings to Marvin Bancroft, Kenneth Williams and Peggy Fenlon. Sgt. States presented 100-hour merits to Lillian Ryan, William Herle, Ruth Fenlon and Edith Long, and a 250-hour bar to Harold Edwards.

Conservation Officers Leo Martin, Gaylord, and Charles Hickling of Kalkaska, patrolled the roads in the area and maintained radio communication with each other to assist the dog handlers.

Except for one or two innocent neophytes such as one who had stumped a porcupine in a tree and excitedly reported a bear had been treed and another who innocently asked guide Al "Whiskers" Brooks:

"Do bears have lice?" virtually all of the hunters were experienced with rifles and many had bagged bucks in deer season.

There were hunters like Mr. Gil Noiro, Gaylord, who in addition to being an experienced rifle shot, is also an excellent pistol marksman. Mrs. Jennie Myers, of Oscoda, who admitted she was "sixtyish" was the matron of the hunt. Participants came from all over the lower peninsula.

Another bear jumped by a second pack in O'Leary swamp, fled to the high ridges and escaped.

Conservation Officers Leo Martin, Gaylord, and Charles Hickling of Kalkaska, patrolled the roads in the area and maintained radio communication with each other to assist the dog handlers.

The next meeting will be at Hannah Baker's October 18. We are to meet at Hattie Moshier's, 7:30 for rides.

The lunch committee — Edna Greenwell, Lucille House and Zephia Holzman, Iola Broadbent, will furnish the birthday cake.

Games were enjoyed and prizes were won by Gertrude Hattie, Hattie Moshier, Edna Feldhauer, Marge Leslie and Celia Budd.

Edna Feldhauer also won the P. P. Bonnie Wakeley

Then there is another pocket knife that has been sharpened too many times: a small silver pill box from the early eighteenth century marked with the initials of a man in an heirloom, or something like that; a rusty impaled wrist watch that hasn't worked since I dropped it in the two summers ago; eight sick matches; a pop sign for a rifle; three old keys; two rubber bands; two antique pins; a sper clip; a brush for cleaning an electric shaver; a broken crayon; a metal vesta; two twine-wrapped half long bamboo samples marked "L. L. Dickerson, 3288 Detroit"; a broken red trill; a bronzed number "seven" hanging on a green ribbon; a KC alien; three marbles; one pin; a Indian dime; 72 cents in loose change; and 23 roofing nails.

Other items of interest this week. The Conservation Department reports that according to National Rifle Association tests, yellow not red is the safest color to wear in the woods when hunting. And in the Avalanche office last week, two men were buying cards. One read "Drive Carefully." The other you say, may vote Republican. The other was same or the Democrats. And on TV Friday night I had the privilege of watching Fred Bear and Chuck Noll extolling the virtues of archery. Bear Archery bow hunting in Grayling. There was also a most informative film showing the construction of bows and arrows as done at Bear. Fred shot a bunch of target arrows through a pine board to demonstrate the destructive power of even this basic type arrow. He always makes it look SOOOO simple ... and I always make it look SOOOO complicated and awkward.

HARVEST SUPPER MEETING FOR 5:30 TODAY

The Harvest Supper to be staged by the Mary Martha Circle of the McMillan Memorial Church on Thursday, will begin at 5 p.m.

The menu will include turkey with dressing, potatoes, gravy, beans, squash, cole slaw, coffee and rolls, and three kinds of pie. The 5:30 hour has been set so that those with bowling dates or other later engagements may be served in time to keep them.

Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan announced the engagement of their daughter Marilyn Boe to Harold Nico, Jr., of Albion, Mich. No date has been set for the wedding.

For his friends who would like to write the John Cathefads add that their son's address is 112 Lawrence L. Canfield, AF 633123, 2473 A. R. F. C., 0031 N. 33rd St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The Lloyd Forsee home on M-72 west of Grayling is in glorious shape with a new siding and a new paint job.

The John Lajuszek home in the town of Grayling is in excellent condition with a new cement walk and driveway at their home in Karen Woods. They got a beautiful new lawn under way this summer too.

The Harold Hartfield home, have painted the trim on their home on Plum street.

The Harold Cliffs have had their home on Cedar street completely repainted.

The Art Warden home on the corner of Ionia and Chestnut streets has new aluminum siding and the trim all painted.

The Ray Clements have a new home under construction in Karen Woods.

The Dale Pettingills have installed new pillars on the porch of their home on Maple street.

The Mount Hope Lutheran Church has installed a new six foot high white neon cross on the roof. It automatically lights up about 6:30 each evening and stays lighted until about 6:30 a.m.

Art Williams has constructed a new front porch on his home on Ogemaw street.

The William Coxes have had a new cement walk and new cement steps added to their home on Michigan avenue.

A new roof has been put on the Black and White Grocery building on Cedar street.

The Boyer Barber Shop on Cedar street has a new coat of paint on the exterior.

Melvin J. Ide has installed new siding on his home on Alger street.

Bill LaGrow is installing new siding on his home at the corner of Michigan and Elm street.

The Bruce Smiths, in addition to having a new start on their home on the AuSable River off from Ionia street, have started the construction of an office and storage building for the Jolly Red Skin Canoe Livery.

As Ham Sheveline, Bellaire, and Harold Lekies, Kalkaska, led their dog packs to an area known as the "Old Orchard" south and west of Grayling, in the early hours Sunday morning, the dog pack set out in full chase of a family of bears that had been raiding the apple trees during the night.

But the bears slipped through the cordon of lady hunters stationed along the ridges and fled into the depths of swampy terrain.

The house was decorated in Hallowe'en motif. The large lack of lanterns was the highlight of the occasion.

There were 15 members and 4 guests. Mrs. Lytle Fern Feldhauer, Linda Leslie and Charles Corwin.

The bountiful dinner was served by the committee in charge: Hannah Baker, Iola Broadbent, Celia Budd, Myrtle Corwin, Dolly Brown, Ethel Cooper, Bessie Deckhauer, Bessie and Dora Feldhauer, Edna Feldhauer and Claribel Goss. Mrs. Baker furnished the anniversary cake.

Are You A Liberal...Or Conservative?

Read the following quotation . . . and then follow long a bit farther: "I do not choose to be a common man . . . it is my right to be uncommon . . . if I can. I seek opportunity . . . not security. . . I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build; to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of Utopia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any avarice. It is my proud heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefits of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done. All this is what it means to be an American."

Who said that? The quotation is from Dean Alfange, former American Labor Party candidate for Governor of New York.

Sounds strange, doesn't it, coming from what the public has been accustomed to call a "liberal". In fact, it sounds more like what the unthinking have been calling a "reactionary". Could it be that the terms "liberal" and "conservative" have been misused. Or that the definitions of the 1930's are out of date?

Once upon a time . . . after the economic excesses of the roaring Twenties . . . it was considered old-fashioned and reactionary to talk about "incentives"; "competition" and "independence". In the angry confusion of the Depression it became stylish to pray to the Great White Father in Washington to solve our problems. The NRA seduced businessmen to run to Congress to settle their family quarrels. "Free Enterprise" became a easy phrase.

Just as some Democrats still are running against Herbert Hoover and some Republicans still are running against FDR, so many Americans still are living mentally in the Depression. Their thinking is unchanged in 1956, despite the fact the American economy and standard of living has expanded far beyond the fanciest dreams of the Depression-day leaders.

It suits the private purposes of some forces in America to keep the Depression psychology alive, to ignore the obvious fact that the dangers they pretend to see were buried nearly 20 years ago. These forces have many spokesmen. Many of them are reputable and sincere. But they are selling a view of America which does not now square with the facts and which, if widely accepted, will change our beloved America for the worst.

There is a counter-sales job to be done in America today by YOU . . . by decent, reputable businessmen, professional men and citizens who are respected in your community and who have the priceless advantage of being able in your every-day life, to convince your neighbors and friends that their welfare depends on a free and healthy economy . . . and not on the Great White Father in Washington with any cradle-to-the-grave security program.

This is no job for a big expensive advertising program. It is a day-to-day job for ordinary citizens who, as the quotation said, does not "want to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled" by having the state look after him.

Mr. G. W. Roesser visited in Saginaw last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Winslow, a seven pound boy.

The roof is being put on the new hospital, and our people can now get an idea of the size and general appearance of the structure.

The Frederic schools were closed Monday, on account of a sickness which is being thoroughly investigated for fear of contagion.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Riess of Ludington, Mich., are in our village spending a few days with their son, Father John J. Riess.

John Hanna, supervisor of Beaver Creek, planted a bushel of late Petoskey potatoes from which he dug almost 60 bushels from the "worthless land" of Crawford County.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McNeven and little daughter are visiting friends in Flint and Fenton.

J. W. Sorenson left Friday night for Chicago and other western cities to purchase holiday goods.

Dr. S. N. Insley is adding a second story to his residence, making a fine improvement to the premises.

The new M. & N. R. R. depot was completed Monday. It is a modern construction throughout that our citizens ought to be proud of.

Wm. McCullough and Hens Holse are in Grand Rapids this week as delegates from the Local to the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bates are expected home today from their southern trip, which from their cards and letters is reported to have been delightful in every way.

Barnyard "WHOodonit"

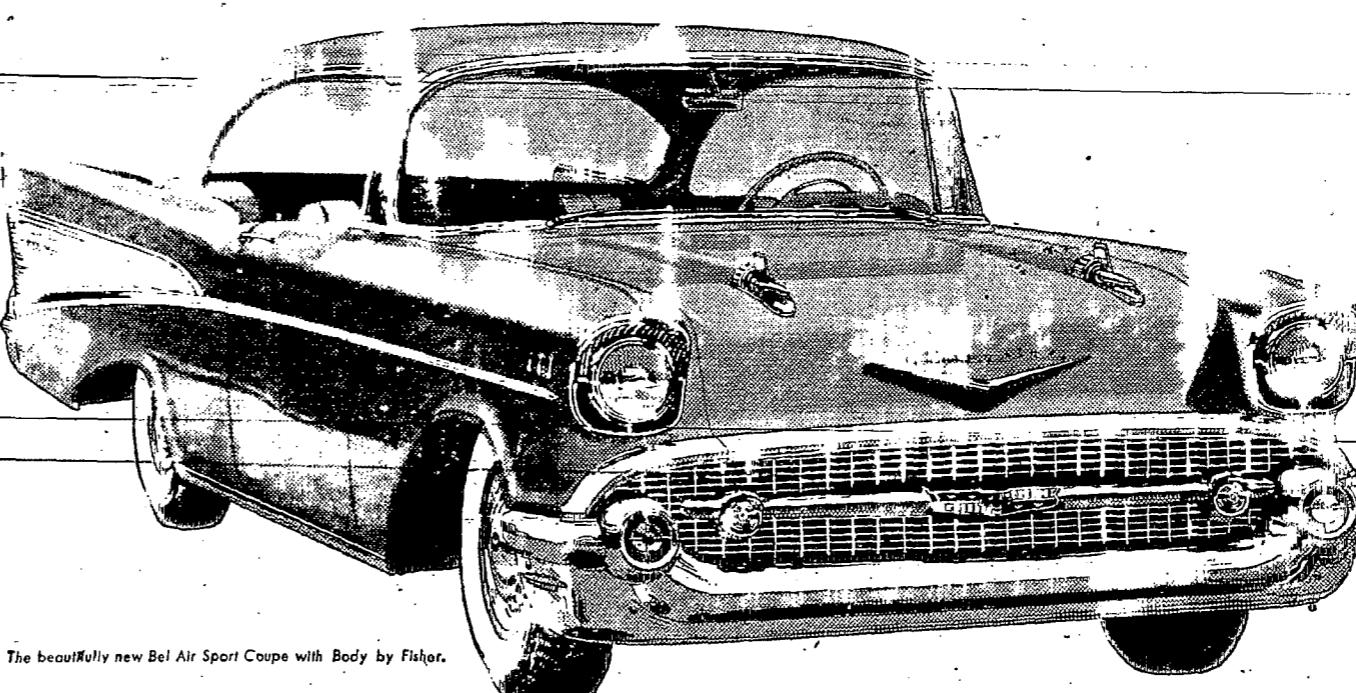

The Barn Owl Controversy still rages in our town. One group claims owls should be protected because they eat vermin. The other faction holds that those little hawks also eat chickens . . . and should be shot.

Now Pops Parker claims both parties are right. All owls clean up vermin. Some owls also clean out an occasional hen yard.

The way to spot a bad owl, according to Pops, is to put up a 10-foot pole in the chicken run with a No. 2 trap on it. A marauding bird generally perches to

SEE THE '57 CHEVROLET FRIDAY! IT'S SWEET, SMOOTH AND SASSY!

Chevy goes 'em all one better—with a daring new departure in design (looks longer and lower, and it is!), exclusive new Turboglide automatic transmission with triple turbines, a new V8 and a bumper crop of new ideas including fuel injection!

New right down to the wheels it rolls on—that's the '57 Chevrolet!

By now you know it's new in style. You can see that Chevy's longer, lower—and every inch a beauty.

But Chevrolet's new in lots of ways that don't show up in our picture. It's new in V8 power options that range up to 245 h.p.* Then, you've a choice of two automatic drives as extra-cost options. There's an even finer Powerglide—and new, nothing-like-it Turboglide that brings you Triple-Turbine take-off and a new flowing kind of going. It's the only one of its kind!

Come see the new car that goes 'em all one better—the new 1957 Chevrolet!

U.S.-27 Gateway to Straits Bridge Needs Concrete Pavement

Concrete should be chosen for Northern Michigan's new four-lane, divided U.S.-27 highway from Indian River to Mackinaw City. As part of the U. S. Interstate System, this road must serve increasing tourist and commercial traffic and provide a heavy-duty, all-weather link in the nation's network of defense highways.

Performance-proved concrete meets every requirement of modern traffic. It is moderate in first cost. It has lower maintenance cost and nearly twice the service life of other pavements. Its gritty texture permits quick, safe stops and its light-colored surface allows maximum nighttime visibility. If you can't see you can't be safe.

The hub of Michigan's vacationland needs the finest highways which engineers can design. Concrete is proved best and its low annual cost gives motorists the most economical investment of tax dollars.

5th and 6th — During the second period of school there will be a race between the boys and girls to see who gets the least E's. The losing team will treat. During our first period class we took a field trip to gather stones for our collection.

1st — On October 11, Benny Vollmer had a birthday. He was 6 years old. He had a party after school which most of the first grade attended. Janet Canfield has been absent with the flu for the last week. We hope she will be back Monday.

2nd — The second grade had two birthdays. Perry Gable was 7 years old on September 21. Jimmy Weaver was 7 years old on September 6th.

5th and 6th — During the second period of school there will be a race between the boys and girls to see who gets the least E's. The losing team will treat. During our first period class we took a field trip to gather stones for our collection.

7th — The 7th grade class has a new member, Bill Siam, who started school on Monday. The 7th graders are now working on a scrapbook, filling it full of Michigan History. Two of the Junior High Cheerleaders are from the 7th grade. They are Barbara Reuse and Janet Hambin.

8th — The 8th grade reports the other two Junior High Cheerleaders. They are Darlene Blanchard and Suzie Olson.

9th — All the 9th graders of Frederic School were initiated Thursday, October 11th. Boy oh boy, what sights we didn't see! Long Johns, Swim Suits and Crazy Hats! But they were all good sports and in return the Sophomores are giving them a party Friday, Oct. 12. There are 10th High School Cheerleaders from the 8th grade. They are Sharon Renaud, Carol Papenpus and Mary Redman. The 9th grade class officers are: Bill Johnson, Vice President; Carol Baynham, Treasurer; Mary Redman, Secretary; Sharon Renaud and Jack Bindschadel, Student Council.

12th — Our Senior Class is sponsoring a movie shown on Nov. 9th, to the students, and on Nov. 12th to the P. T. A. and other adults. Mr. Bill, one of our High School Teachers, is showing the movies. They will last for 1 hour and 10 minutes. They are in full color and are about 10 different states. Students charge is 25¢. Adults 50¢. Our class is now busy with a stationery drive. We hope we may be as successful with it as with our Magazine Drive. The Seniors are ordering class pictures from Parson Studios on Monday, Oct. 15. We hope the Grayling Seniors will be as pleased with their pictures as we were.

The Frederic Basketball Team practiced ball at the Grayling Gym last night. We're worried about the dear Senior boys. Four of them were absent from school today!

IN MEMORIAM

of measurements. The new measure include the back-waist length taken from the base of the scapula bone at the neck to the waist. In general, the old pattern had six inches difference between bust and waist and nine inches difference between bust and hip measurements. For example, size 16 has meant 34 bust, 28 waist and 37 hip. The new measurements in general, will have eight inches between bust and waist and ten inches difference between waist and hip. So, the new size 16 is as follows: 36 bust, 28 waist and 38 hip. Take these body measurements so you can select your proper pattern size.

State Tourist Council Plugging
For Fall Color Tours In Area

FALL "COLOR TOURS" are in order as autumn brings glorious hues to trees and shrubs throughout northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

So says Robert Furlong, director of the State Tourist Council.
Plugging for leisurely drives through areas where color reigns as king, Furlong urges Michigan residents to see their state at its best.

To help you plan a tour at exactly the time colors are at their height, the council offers a tailor-made information service.

Send a self-addressed post card to the tourist office at Lansing stating where you plan to travel in Michigan. Just before the color is at its peak in the area you name, the council will remail your card to you saying "now is the time."

And best of all—the whole majestic show is free.

The autumn season also gives the tourist council a breathing period to evaluate last summer's tourist business.

Figures now coming in indicate that this was a "pretty good" tourist year, although it did not reach pre-season expectations.
Bad weather played a major role in limiting tourist spending.

"Tourist traffic through Michigan was good, but people kept moving around in search of better weather," Furlong comments. "In all, we had four inches more rain this fall than summer."

Mackinac Bridge construction brought people flocking to the straits to see the new structure.
Traffic between the two peninsulas was up 1½ per cent over last year.

Until all figures are in, best
"guesstimates" by the Council

Summer tourist business won't reach the $900 million level predicted last spring.

But it won't fall below the $600 million mark set last year.

THE BIG JOB handled by the "little people" in Michigan's state government is being done well according to C. J. Hess, deputy civil service director.

While politicians are making headlines in newspapers, the business of government continues to run smoothly in the hands of some 25,000 state employees who provide services through 117 state agencies.

Scientific appraisal through promotional examinations given employees seeking better positions shows that 71 per cent of them are qualified to handle more important jobs.

The system of competitive examinations for promotion is popular with state employees, Hess assures. It gives an employee a good in his own promotion, a goal reached by personal achievement.

Out of all those taking examinations only 90 per cent have been found unsuitable for advancement.

The rating plan was introduced in 1949 to provide a standard yardstick for measuring worker aptitude, efficiency and satisfaction.
Before that time promotions were based on recommendations of agency and department heads.

intelligent publication that win praise of college professors and a reputation for being one of the finest prison papers in the country.

Much of the material in newspaper arms at "battering reforms, contributions to charitable works, and worthy projects tend to receive witty attention. For example, a promotion for a blood donation drive was worded thus:

"Bob" (Corpuscles) March

rumors it's out in force trying to run you out of your blood comes the next Red Cross.

The response is amazing.

Traffic Emergency

Although Traffic Problem Is Local Affair, Mounting Tolls Could Bring Federal Action

(Last of a Series)

Federal intervention and all that it implies in the way of regulation, red tape and bureaucracy could be a distinct possibility and a threat unless local and state governments take firm steps to halt the nation's soaring traffic tolls.

Howard Pyle, former governor of Arizona now serving as deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, recently told a regional safety conference that the federal government may be required to act if traffic death continues to mount.

"The people of the United States could cut traffic deaths in half in six months if they really wanted to do it," Pyle told the delegates.

"What's happening on America's streets and highways today is a murder—we might as well call it by its right name. And murder is something you just don't tolerate in a civilized society."

"Nevertheless, we are tolerating it and we're assuming it's something that can't be helped. But it can be helped."

"If the terrible traffic death rate continues, you're going to find an increasing determination on the part of some to appeal to the federal government to take over."

"That is not the answer," Pyle stated. "It's the last thing President Eisenhower wants; but the drain on our resources must be stemmed."

Hathaway G. Kemper, president of Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty

Company and of American Motorists Insurance Company, said the problem "can and must be solved on the local level and the state level because that's exactly where it exists."

Kemper pointed out that two out of every three drivers involved in fatal collisions live within 25 miles of the collisions.

Five out of every six drivers in fatal collisions are residents of the state in which the collisions occur.

"The fact that most drivers involved in traffic fatalities live nearby clearly shows where the traffic death problem must be attacked," Kemper said.

"Because the problem is essentially a local one, I'm sure that individual communities and the states can do a better job of solving it than anyone in far-off Washington."

"We also must recognize that federal intervention and federal control over 70,000,000 drivers will result in a new government bureau that will be larger than any we have today."

Safety experts are agreed that our rising traffic death toll, which is now headed toward a record mark of 42,000 lives in a single year, can be halted by a determined effort that includes:

Stringent, impartial enforcement of traffic laws.

More vigorous prosecution in court and stiffer penalties for the more serious offenses.

More rigid license requirements to keep unqualified drivers off the road.

Revocation of driving privileges for accident repeaters and habitual traffic lawbreakers.

Uniformity in state traffic laws and precedents.

Greater co-operation among states and among agencies within states.

Progress is being made on all these fronts. But it isn't enough. It won't be fast enough until you, your family, your friends and your neighbors insist on it.

To speed the progress and to make the roads safer for you and your family, we urge you to:

Get really angry whenever any police officer, prosecutor, judge or any public official doesn't do his job properly.

As an individual driver, you can help save your own neck by obeying the traffic laws. Actually, traffic laws should be known as "safety" laws because the motorist who abides by them is a safe driver.

Whenever you're a pedestrian, obey the law, too. About one of every four traffic victims is a pedestrian. Most pedestrian deaths occur because pedestrians, themselves, violate the law. They literally ask to be hit.

Even if you personally obey the law, you still have to worry about getting hit by the drivers who don't. By insisting on and supporting strict and impartial traffic law enforcement, you can help reduce the toll taken by highwaymaniacs.

Bear Hunt

chase. The arrival of other hunters from Oscoda, Traverse City, Newaygo, and Manistee stirs the number of females participating in the chase to well over the 80 mark.

"Guide Brownwell stated that in thirty years of guiding experience he had never seen such a group of good sports. They were ready on time both Saturday and Sunday morning, Brownwell said, which was a new experience for him.

The bear is now in storage and a get together of all of the hunt's participants is planned with the bear furnishing part of the dinner. Proceeds of the party will be donated to charity.

Brownwell stated that one lady hunter left after the hunt was underway and went into Grayling to teach her Sunday School class.

She returned later in the day when the party at the chase got started.

With the disclosure this week that the Crawford County Board of Supervisors had levied general taxes of $192,274.60 for 1957 in our county, it is brought to mind the action of State Representative Emil Peltz a few years ago that has made the tax burden on our citizens a little lighter.
